

Things are Happening in Portland Neighborhoods

The Neighborhood Economic Development

(NED) Strategy is a citywide initiative to foster economic opportunity and neighborhood vitality throughout Portland neighborhoods. Given Portland's unique demographic and geographic challenges and areas of opportunity, the Strategy focuses on communities of color and priority neighborhoods. A job creation and equity lens will guide every action, investment, and program.

One of the NED strategy key elements is the Neighborhood Prosperity Initiative (NPI) – the creation of up to six small, innovative urban renewal areas, focused on neighborhood commercial areas, that will be managed by the local communities themselves.

The following six communities have been proposed to be included in the NPI:

- NE 42nd Avenue
- Cully Boulevard
- Parkrose
- Rosewood
- SE Division Street (124th - 148th Avenues)
- SE Division Street and 82nd Avenue

Neighborhood Prosperity Initiative

The goal of the Neighborhood Prosperity Initiative (NPI) is to strengthen neighborhood business districts' economic competitiveness through community-planned and community-implemented actions and projects.

Specifically, NPI areas will focus on:

- Increasing the visibility of their business district
- Growing more jobs
- Strengthening existing businesses
- Filling vacant spaces

With support from the PDC and the City, each neighborhood will be best positioned to decide what actions and projects will improve their local business districts.

Who Needs to be Involved?

Neighborhood buy-in is critical which is why the process starts with community organization of a broad cross-section of people representing the area's business community, residents, property owners, district organizations, and community groups. Everyone with a stake in the district and its future should be involved in preparing the best plan for the neighborhood.

Capital Improvement Projects

Each of the selected NPI areas will become small urban renewal areas (URA) administered by the local NPI district. URAs generate revenue through tax increment financing, or TIF, which will provide NPI districts funding for capital improvement projects such as: improvements to business exteriors and interiors, street furniture, trash cans, lighting, district signage, gateway markers, and other small-scale, permanent capital improvements.

It is anticipated funding from the URA will begin to be available in February 2014, with approximately $25,000-$37,000 available for projects in the first year. By the seventh and final year of the urban renewal area, we estimate approximately $190,000-$280,000 annually for improvements. Each district's investment of TIF funds will be guided by a community-developed action plan and implemented consistent with statutory requirements.

What Support Will Be Available from the City Long-Term?

The Neighborhood Prosperity Initiative is similar in many respects to the City's Main Street Program. The management of the district will occur at a local level. PDC's role will be to support the districts in their management of the district through seed funding, technical assistance, and overall support. Below is more about what you can expect.

Local Management

It has been proven that community economic development is most successful when there is a paid staff person that is focused on moving the community's vision forward. In July 2012, PDC anticipates providing an annual grant between $15,000 - $30,000 to match annual community fundraising to hire a local district manager and get the work off the ground.

On the Ground Support

PDC will work with community leaders in March of 2012 to begin orientation and training for the work ahead. We anticipate that this will involve a mix of: business district management basics, leadership development, organizational development, and fundraising training. This organizational capacity building and creation of strong leaders at a local level is imperative to a successful community driven process. Training and support will continue once districts begin operation in July 2012.

This is a powerful and one-of-a-kind opportunity.
We will rely on you to do your part and you can count on us to do ours.
